Ohio Robbers Escape After Daring Hold-Up At Washington C. H.

After Overpowering Four Employees and Two Customers, Outlaws Give Cashier of Peoples and Drivers Institution Three Minutes to Open Safe Containing Cash and Bonds.

JANITOR LOCKED IN REAR ROOM; OTHERS FORCED TO LIE ON FLOOR

Gangsters, Traveling in Maroon Car, Circle City and are Believed to Have Fled Toward Columbus After Strewing Pike With Several Bushels of Small Heavy Nails.

WASHINGTON C. H., Feb. 6.—Five unmasked bandits today held up four employees and two customers at the Peoples and Drivers bank here and escaped with $200,000 in cash and negotiable bonds.

After circling the city, the bandits are believed to have escaped toward Columbus. The Columbus pike has been strewn with several bushels of small heavy nails, presumably by the bandits.

Three of the bandits, according to Cashier Floyd Elliott, entered the bank, and after forcing two employees and two customers to lie on the floor, gave Elliott three minutes to open the safe. He opened it. The other employee, a janitor was forced into a rear room.

OUR people could not compete with them in the low standard of living. If they were brought in in any considerable numbers there would be trouble. —for the Hindus and the police. That is the plain English of it.

10 FISHERMEN FACE DEATH ON LAKE ICE PACK

Appeal for Planes to Search Off Canadian Shore.

WEATHER IS COLD Marooned Men are Trapped When Field Breaks.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 6.—The coast guard vessel which put out early today in an effort to rescue ten men trapped on an ice floe which broke loose and floated out into Lake Erie before the men could regain the mainland, returned to this port today after fruitless efforts to approach the frozen island of ice. The crew reported that they could not get within seven miles of the floe, due to ice jams.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 6.—Captain Paul H. Forner, coast guard commander, today appealed to the New York National Guard and Lieut. Edwin M. Ronne, manager of the Buffalo airport, to supply airplanes to search for the ten or more fishermen facing death on Lake Erie on a gigantic field of ice which broke away from the offshore pack seven miles southwest of Mind Point, Ontario, Sunday afternoon. At daybreak the coast guard was patrolling both the Canadian and American shores. The weather was very cold.

The plight of the fishermen was brought to the attention of the coast guard here when Captain Forner received telephone calls from several residents along the Canadian shore saying they had seen the men fishing and saw a field of ice break away from the shore ice. All agreed that at least ten men were marooned and carried away.

The coast guard estimates that the men were fishing about three miles off shore when the break came, and that the southwest wind had carried the field out into the lake about six miles. Later the wind shifted to the north and late last night the ice field was being carried south across the lake ten miles or more from the Canadian shore. The identity of the men is unknown. All are believed to be from Long Point, Ontario.

The fishermen carried wood to kindle a fire but only enough to last until this morning.

Councilman Ora Loomis, at Crystal Beach, watching the fishermen through field glasses, saw the ice suddenly break away. The men were fishing in pairs and singly, he said. The ice is six inches thick.

Street Car Workers Urge Sale Renewed

William B. Nicholson, Division 52 President, and C. A. Smith, of Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Company Sign One-year Pact.

Assuring the continuance of tranquil relations among trolley transportation employers and employees for another year, representatives of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Co., and Division 52, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, today agreed to a renewal of their pact, effective May 1.

William B. Nicholson, of Wellsville, now serving his fifth term as president of the street car men's union, and C. A. Smith, general manager of the traction lines, approved the agreement.

No Change in Wages. February action on wages and working conditions which customarily are not discussed until April, developed as a result of Smith's plans for a southern trip. He expects to be gone at least three months.

Under the terms of the pact, street car employees receive 49 cents an hour for the first six months, 53 cents for the second six months and 58 cents thereafter. Operators of one-man cars and busses receive five cents an hour extra.

Although employers and employees are operating at present under a three-year pact which expires in 1929, wage conferences may be called each year at the request of either side.

Employees of the Youngstown & Ohio Railroad and the Newell Bridge and Railway Co., while associated with the local union, work under separate contracts.

.45-MILL LEVY FOR FUND OF $15,000 GOES BEFORE SOLONS

Plan Provides for Four Classes of Pensioners.

$2,500 NUCLEUS

Calls for Retirement at Age of 55 Years.

Request for a special levy of .45 mill for the establishment of a police and fire department fund will be laid before council probably at tonight's meeting.

State Law Authorizes Plan. The fire department asks three-tenths of a mill, while the policemen seek .15 mills.

The two levies, it is pointed out, would bring the firemen approximately $10,000 annually, while the police department would receive about $5,000. This is estimated on the city's present tax duplicate of $33,000,000.

Police and firemen have a bank account of approximately $2,500, raised through benefits, as a nucleus of the fund.

The state law, sponsors of the plan argue, makes it possible for council to provide a pension system for policemen and firemen.

Classes of Pensioners. While the pension system must be separate, provided for by different ordinances and supervised by members of the respective departments, the plan offered will be identical for each department.

The plan provides for four classes of pensioners. Class A pensioner is defined as a member of either department that has attained the age of 55 years and has spent a total of 30 years in the service.

Class B pensioner is one who has attained the age of 50 years and has spent 25 years in the service.

Class C pensioner is one who has served 15 years regardless of age. Voluntary retirement is provided for members that come under either classification A, B or C. The pension provided in these classes will be fixed definitely.

A member after serving 15 years may not voluntarily retire, but if retired or honorably discharged may become a pensioner at a rate fixed by the board of trustees of the pension fund.

Provisions for Dependents.

Any member of either department that suffers an injury while in line of duty, and such injury prevents his further performing his duties as a policeman or fireman, pension is provided under class A for one year. If at the end of a year it is ascertained that he will be prevented from performing any gainful occupation, he will be pensioned for life. If he is fit to perform some gainful occupation other than that of policeman or fireman he is then classified by the board of trustees.

If a policeman or fireman, while in the performance of his duties, becomes afflicted with an ailment or disease and by reason thereof is incapacitated from the further performance of his duties, he will be pensioned for life. (Continued on Page 8, Column 4)

SALARY ISSUE SHOWDOWN NEAR

Council May Act Tonight on Two Proposals.

Show-down upon salary increasing legislation for Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore and Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley is expected at the meeting of city council tonight.

The proposed boost of the city's portion of the Hanley stipend from $1,800 to $2,400 has already been passed on first reading by a vote of 4 to 3. Diction of the Hanley stipend from $1,800 to $2,400 is expected at the meeting of city council tonight.

Members of the Southern Columbiana County Bar association at a meeting in the law offices of Hill & Davidson Friday night endorsed the proposed salary ordinance "by a unanimous vote." It was announced. Members of the association today denied that any agreement had been made with the commissioners whereby the county's share of the judge's salary would be increased from $2,000 to $2,400 if the city contributed an additional $600. This being the case the salary of the judge would be $5,000 per year instead of $4,000.

TINSON LOST TO BETHANY SQUAD

John Tinson, Follansbee, star center on the Bethany college floor teams of 1926-1927, tackled on the Bison football eleven of 1926 and 1927, has participated in his last college contest as a Bison. The big Follansbee youth suffered a foot injury last fall in the game with Fordham university, which recently developed into blood poisoning. Although he is walking around and is in a much improved condition, he has been advised that at least six weeks' rest is necessary to bring him back to playing condition. The Bison basketball season ends on February 28, which makes it impossible for him to play again unless his improvement is especially rapid.

The loss of Tinson to the varsity basketball conference is a hard blow to Bison conference chances. Damschroder and Telfair are playing a good game in trying to fill his shoes, but lack the experience that is necessary for a pivot to have. Coach Nuss and the Bison student body are hopeful that Tinson will be able to participate in the last few games of the year.

WHEN YOUR SKIN IS SALLOW AND DULL

Nature intended that every skin should be attractive. From babyhood to old age she strives to make the outward appearance beautiful.

But Nature cannot do the impossible. So long as the skin gets rich red blood it will be attractive. When that blood carries a lot of heavy foreign matter the skin gets greasy, then sallow, then rough and dry.

Where does this skin poison come from? Why, whenever congestion occurs in the mucous membrane, which lines the body, the whole system is affected. That is what catarrh does for you.

Could Be Beautiful

Many a woman would be beautiful if she would drive catarrh from her system. Catarrh checks digestion, numbs the liver, prevents the kidneys from throwing off the poisonous matter. Constipation, foul breath, sour stomach, all these things are fatal to beauty. When catarrh is their underlying cause—as it is in most cases—recovery of health and beauty is only possible when that catarrh is gone.

We have literally thousands of letters from grateful men and women who tell us how they have taken ten years off their age with World's Tonic, how this wonderful medicine has cleared up the whole system, restoring spring to the step, brightness to the eyes and beauty to the skin. They will convince anyone of these two facts.

ACIDITY CAUSES 90% DIGESTION TROUBLE

Avoid Fancy Treatments and Remove this Cause

While many things, directly or indirectly, may cause stomach trouble, any medical man will tell you that over nine-tenths of all cases of indigestion are due to or accompanied by acidity and food fermentation. Excess acid accumulates in the stomach and turns the food into a souring, fermenting mass which produces painful gases and still more acid, and is usually directly responsible for indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, acidity, flatulence, and gastritis.

Obviously you can not remedy these disorders by improving your blood or nerves, nor by clearing your system of impurities. Excellent as these processes may be as conducive to good health, they will not rid you of that harmful stomach acid. To do this quickly, safely and surely, you should take a little "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt. This not only gives quick relief by instantly neutralizing stomach acid, but soothes and heals your acid-inflamed stomach lining.

"Pape's Diapepsin" is sold by all druggists at 60 cents a package, and is used by millions because it is not a "cure-all medicine" which pretends to remedy a hundred and one ills — "Pape's Diapepsin" stops indigestion instantly because it removes the cause.

Police-Fireman Pension Plan

City council tonight will be asked to establish a pension fund for members of the police and fire departments.

A committee representing the law enforcement and fire fighting units of the municipal government will request that the council sanction a plan for a 45-mill levy—30 mills for the 26 firemen and 15 for the 14 policemen—which will mean an annual income of approximately $15,000 on the present $33,000,000 tax duplicate.

In addition, patrolmen and firemen, it is understood, expect to contribute $2,500, raised in benefits as the nucleus of the fund, which, in the event of approval, will not become effective until 1929.

The plan calls for four classes of pensioners—men who have attained the age of 55 and who have spent 30, 25 or 20 years in service and a special provision for retirement after serving 15 years regardless of age. It also provides for a pension for a man who has been incapacitated by reason of injury suffered while in line of duty. Provisions, too, is made for dependents of policemen or firemen dying from natural causes after the department member has served 20 years.

At least one or two patrolmen and four firemen would be eligible for retirement on pensions within a short period should the legislation be enacted.

Although the subject has been frequently discussed, a pension system is a new idea in East Liverpool. There are many angles of the proposal which should be given deep study by councilmen before any action is taken. Aside from the cost of the plan, which must be paid by the taxpayers whose interests the patrolman and fireman protect, city officials should determine how many, if any, cities comparable in population with East Liverpool have a pension system.

Rising Government Expense

After a period of drastic curtailment of expenses, there comes inevitably a time when the expenditure curve goes up instead of down. The head of the family knows this. If economy in clothing and household repairs is carried too far, suddenly everything has to be replaced at once, from new overcoats all around the family to new shingles on the roof. Buying these things may still be economy, but expenses for a time look considerably higher on the books.

This is true also of government expenses. President Coolidge intimated such a condition the other day when he told government employees at their semi-annual meeting that expenditures for the fiscal year of 1927 were the lowest since the war. He continued:

"This year they have necessarily taken an upward curve."

Fortunate is the family that is prepared with reserve funds for such a period of enlarged expenditures. In the case of the nation, facing rising government expenses, our great prosperity and our large treasury surplus are such a reserve fund. We need not be appalled by that rising expenditure curve, but neither can we expect large tax reductions or a larger surplus in the near future.

Teaching For Jobs

Evidently "vocational training," so much in vogue in recent years, isn't all it has been cracked up to be. Says Dr. Charles F. Thwing, a leading authority on education:

"The methods of teaching a student how to make a living through vocational courses have been unwise, extravagant and ineffective. The courses have been superficial. They have generally been worthless for achieving the purposes which have inspired them."

This is corroborated in an article by Garrett P. Servis, who says: "Similar testimony flows in from all sides. And yet ambitious boards of education are harassing the taxpayers in towns and villages all over the country with demands to countersign ever-growing bonds, in order that additions may be made to the smattering curriculum, which is said in one town to run from plumbing and bricklaying to tea-pouring, baby-washing and the latest fad called 'charm'."

In colleges and high schools both there seems to be a feeling lately that old-fashioned educators were not far off after all. The newest idea in education is also the oldest. It is the idea that the best way to prepare the child for life is to give him a good general education; then he will be better able to master any particular branch of knowledge or occupation or job when the occasion arises. Give him the foundation, and he can build the superstructure himself.

There is one sound argument for vocational training, however, which is not affected by this general criticism. The objections to such training properly apply to the bright children and the average children. But for those who have no school interest in "book learning," and no gift for it, and whose age nevertheless holds them in school, vocational training is very useful.

Travel Scenes on Fabrics

Young men are urged to join the navy and see the world. Their sisters may go to an afternoon tea and the playgrounds of the world. It is the result of a little co-operation between art and industry. This is how it is:

The patterns on a certain line of dress prints have ceased to be geometrical and flower designs. They have become pictures, or rather small views, of typical scenes in Havana, Newport, Bermuda, the French Riviera, Catalina Island and other famous resorts. Palm trees, clouds, seashore, quaint buildings, people, hills and flowers are combined according to the place and scene, on these fabrics. Fashionable ladies, and others who don't bother particularly about fashion, will be wearing frocks of these materials as spring comes on.

There is more to this than novelty. Even to an un-informed observer, it has become apparent that beauty and art are finding places to serve in American industry. Our mass production methods hitherto have left to foreign manufacturers the finest textiles and other goods requiring individuality and special skill. Efficiency, utility, mass production were the watchwords. Beauty, charm and quality are now added to the group.

In the end, this development, and all it may lead to, may have something to do with the saving of America's soul from the perils of the standardized machine age.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6.—Now that King George's message to the Canadian Parliament has been read opening the sessions of that body, the St. Lawrence waterway project becomes a live question. The gigantic undertaking rests with the Canadian lawmakers, because American and Canadian engineers and economists have given their approval, and the United States government through the state department has communicated its endorsement.

A great governmental project, like all Gaul, is divided into three parts—the engineering, the economic, and the political. While it might not be exactly accurate to say that the last named is the most important, it is true that it is the controlling factor. It is necessary for engineers to study carefully from all angles and in great detail the methods and costs of construction and for economists by their investigations to determine the feasibility and economic soundness of the project, but it remains for the politicians to say, "yes, go ahead," and to vote the money to put men and equipment to work.

A brief review of the history of the proposed shipway linking the Great Lakes and the Atlantic ocean demonstrates that there has been no undue haste in the matter and that the engineering and economic phases of the problem have been thoroughly studied. Other routes which would link fresh and salt water have also been proposed and investigated. One suggested route which has been given much attention is that connecting these great bodies of water via the Hudson river, Oneida lake, and Oswego, and according to the army engineers is the shorter, but more costly.

Ever since 1836 there has been interest in America in a shipway from the Great Lakes to the sea. At that time congress authorized an examination and survey of various canal routes from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario as the first step.

By the waterways treaty of 1909, the international joint commission was created to have jurisdiction over all cases involving the use, or obstruction, or diversion of waters forming, or crossing the international boundary between the United States and Canada.

In 1915 congress requested this commission to study means of improving the St. Lawrence river to make it navigable for ocean-going ships. The report made in 1922 recommended negotiations which would permit the two governments to undertake an outlined plan.

The United States St. Lawrence commission was appointed in 1924 by President Coolidge with Herbert Hoover as chairman to give advice on the development of a Great Lakes-Atlantic ocean shipway.

In April, 1927, Secretary of State Kellogg informed the Canadian minister that the United States government had adopted this commission's recommendations and was ready to enter into treaty negotiations.

Mr. Hoover's commission concentrated on the economic phases of the question. Another commission which went into the engineering details was that composed of U. S. army engineers under Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin. The engineers reported in 1926 that the Great Lakes to the sea project would be a sound investment for the United States and would bring relief to the middle west laboring under transportation handicaps.

A joint board of Canadian and American engineers in that same year presented a plan outlining the technical program.

The further argument for this shipway has been made in the United States that "the cooperative development of the St. Lawrence waterway by the United States and Canada would have a greater value in promoting better international relations than in any strictly financial return to either nation."

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Diary of a modern Popsy: Early to the barber to be trimmed and W. R. Hearst in the next chair and I was tempted to say, "Mr. Hearst, I wrote for some of your magazines and newspapers," but wondered what in the world I would do if he replied, "What of it?" so kept my tongue.

Albert one of the nicest compliments I ever received came from him. Then to call on C. L. Edson from Arkansas, and found him as engaging as ever and think his "The Great American Ass" as honest a book as ever written. Walked in the morning at East Side and home to my labours.

The man who tells me the story says not a day passes the husband does not receive a postcard scrawl telling of her love.

Other Editors Say

PEACE-TIME MILITIA.

Governor Donahey has been commended by Major General C. C. Hammond, chief of the military bureau of the Ohio National Guard, for his use of the Ohio National Guard as a relief agency in the Hocking valley.

It is fine to know that this military organization, trained for national defense, has a humanitarian function that it can perform capably and without red tape in time of peace. The general impression prevails that the military branch of government is a cold-blooded, heartless unit, schooled in the destruction of human life and property in time of war, and maintained as a police agency to quell internal riots and uprisings in time of peace.

But when men in the uniform of the National Guard dispense food and clothing to the little children of striking miners, at a time when this relief is as necessary as it appears to be in the Hocking valley today, such service is bound to create a greater respect for government. The striking workman, reduced to poverty and destitution by enforced idleness, has sometimes regarded the militia as a hostile agency, ready to strike him down with the slightest provocation. Yet here we find this organization carrying on a warm-hearted work of mercy. The uniform, once recognized as a badge of hostility is now the symbol of a helping hand.

For several months past, Adjutant General Henderson has maintained observers in the mine fields. These men, although high ranking officers of the National Guard, are in civilian clothes. Their mission has been to prevent violence and they have succeeded admirably. They are welcomed by both the operators and the strikers.

The mine strike has continued for 10 months. In Colorado there have been riots necessitating the mobilization of the militia. Ohio presents a picture in striking contrast.—Columbus Dispatch.

WOMAN IS CIVIL ENGINEER.

"Business women would be much better off if publicity were removed from their every action."

Thus does Miss Elsie Eaves, formerly of Colorado, now assistant in research work for two industrial publications of the McGraw-Hill Publishing company and the only woman member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, modestly disclaim credit for her position.

Not at all the husky type of woman one might expect to hold such an important position, Miss Eaves is distinctly feminine. She is quietly dressed without the addition of masculine apparel.

The work Miss Eaves does is for the Engineer News Record and Construction Methods and in this she becomes acquainted with the new methods and new ideas in engineering sooner than the bulk of engineers all over the country.

She tells enthusiastically of new developments which she has investigated recently, among which is the invention of noiseless riveting for building.

"I've always met great courtesy in my work," she says. "And I think it would be better if women's success, worries and progress in the business and professional world were not pointed out as distinctly different from the men's work."

"I am almost embarrassed by the courteous treatment I receive, and feel that I have an advantage in my work.—Rock Mountain News.

Dora can't come!

Today, and every day, a lot of women count their time to suffer. As regularly as the months come 'round, comes pain that is borne in silence. "It's Nature," women say. But it isn't!

Women who have always had the hardest time, have no pain at all from the day they discover Midol.

Midol is the special preparation of specialists, and is not a narcotic. It does nothing to the menstrual process. It does stop the pain—in five to seven minutes! So it is only common sense to use it. And it costs just fifty cents, at any drugstore in tiny carrying case of aluminum.

Reliability Marks Products of Cain Machine Company

Although specializing to a great extent in the designing, production and repairing of machinery for the pottery and ceramic trade in general, and makers of Chester key seaters, the Cain Machine company still remains a "first aid" shop for general repair operations in the East Liverpool district.

No job in their own particular line is too small to elicit their immediate attention and none, on the other hand, is large enough to surpass the bounds of their skill and workmanship. In practically all parts of the United States and into Canada and other countries as well, have gone the handiwork of this East Liverpool institution and the first job is always the forerunner of others.

Carefully executed work, a consummate skill and understanding of their trade is bespoken in every piece of work that leaves the shop. The high standard of quality set by the directing heads of the company must be met in every particular. Orders of this kind, well done, flourish and generally grow into more orders.

Years of Quality Workmanship Back Of Bonjour's Shop

The first shop in Chester to advertise radio, the oldest wall paper house in Hancock county, the oldest contracting firm in papering and painting, and a union shop—these qualifications, without further embellishment, should be sufficient to recommend the E. S. Bonjour hardware—wall paper—paint—radio shop to people of Chester and vicinity.

Bonjour handles the Day-Fan radio and recommends it highly to the radio public.

Just ask the "fan" who owns one and he'll do the same. Bonjour also is equipped to sell the Steinite and other electric radios as well as equipment that might be needed.

Bonjour handles a complete line of wall papers to meet varying needs and also does first-class contracting work in this line, as well as painting. He lays claim to the distinction of operating the oldest wall paper and painting contracting firm in Chester.

It would be especially timely now to inspect Bonjour's bargains in gas and heating stoves. We won't have much more warm weather.

Newell Lumber Co., Is Ready to Meet Your Spring Needs

For want of a nail the shoe was lost, for want of a shoe the horse was lost; for want of a horse the rider was lost and for want of the rider the battle was lost; thus the old saying has it, or words to that effect, indicating only that a comparatively minor detail in the beginning may ultimately assume damaging proportions.

This is applicable in many things; we're speaking here of roofs. Let a tiny leak go and some day it's going to be expensive. New plaster, new wall paper—maybe something else; it can do a lot of damage—in your home, garage, chicken coop, or any place else.

The Newell Lumber company, at Newell, W. Va., handles the well-known Johns Manville asbestos shingles, slate surface shingles and roll roofing, any of which dispose of your roofing problem, if you have any, for indefinite years.

No matter what your requirements are, it will pay you to get in touch with Newell Lumber company officials. They will be glad to provide you estimates on any kind of job, large or small.

It won't be long now—before spring rains begin to hit the roof and—well, if there are any little leaky places up there, the water is going to come through.

You Also Purchase Dependability in Clapsaddle Service

When the baby has to have milk, it must have it every day, day in and day out, and, it is quite easy to see, it couldn't get along very handily on a haphazard diet. And, for that matter, we all like to find our milk on the porch every morning.

In other words, consistency of service is almost as important as the quality of the milk itself.

This same dependability is an outstanding attribute of the Clapsaddle Brothers Dairy.

The Clapsaddle Brothers Dairy service is as punctual as daylight itself.

The way the business has been built up and the way it has "stuck" after it was established testifies to that better than anything else that could be said. Clapsaddle have been in business for a number of years and a feature of their trade is that pretty nearly all of the old customers are still with them.

H. C. Walter's Auto Smithy Shop Good Place to Fix it up

Now is the time for all good automobile owners and drivers to think about putting the old bus in shape for the summer campaign. There's a long season ahead of us, mates, and we'd best be getting things in ship-shape order. A little hammering here, some tightening up there, or, perhaps, a little job or two by our local auto "smithy," H. C. Walter, may be all you need, but even so, better get it done now and get a start on the rest of the field. H. C. Walter, you know, is a specialist in general auto blacksmithing, and a good one, too.

Included in his line of activities are the repairing and re-arching of springs, straightening of axles, straightening of disc wheels, frame work and similar duties demanding workmanship of a nature somewhat different from that of the ordinary garage.

Walter will straighten it up again—your axle, too, and other kindred parts if they need it.

Often flattened front springs will seriously affect the car's steering. Walter can eliminate any disturbances of this nature.

Try Walter the next time if you have some trouble of this kind. His shop is located in East Church alley, just off Market street.

Davis Brothers Co., Chester, Will Make That Radio Perform

Did you get the recent $50,000 an hour Dode Brothers program on your radio? Did you catch President Coolidge's words Saturday night? Do the Chicago WLS Saturday night barn dances come in to you clearly? Or are you missing all the best that's on the air because your set, for some reason or other, is not dependable?

A radio is a complicated piece of electrical apparatus that requires a highly developed technical knowledge to install properly and repair.

The Davis Brothers Tire Service shop, Carolina avenue, Chester, specializes in electrical work of this kind, such as expert repairing, battery work and the like.

And good radio will produce when it is given the chance to get to work under correct conditions. The Davis Brothers shop for some time has been successful in making radios "work" and their calls are constantly increasing. Their work is their best testimonial.

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

"WE" Epic of the Air by C. A. Lindbergh

CHAPTER XXVII.
There was a small clearing about 200 yards from the bush, in which it was possible to land a slow ship. I landed at Camp Kearny and sent for one of the cabin Hisso Standards used by the Ryan Airlines for their passenger service between San Diego and Los Angeles.

When the Standard arrived I flew over and landed in the clearing near the lost board which was clearly visible from the air; but, after a fifteen minute search, I was unable to locate it from the ground in the thick mesquite. So I took off my coat and spread it over the top of another bush, then took the air again with the Standard to locate the board in relation to the coat.

I had no difficulty in locating them both and found them to be about fifty yards apart. I landed again, but could not locate the board, so moved my coat to the spot where I thought it should be and took off again. This time I had placed the coat within 20 feet of the data board, but it required several minutes' search in the thick mesquite to finally locate it.

After I returned to Camp Kearny with the Standard, we made preparations for the weight tests of the Spirit of St. Louis.

The tests were to be made starting with a light load and increasing the weight carried by about 50 gallons of fuel for each test up to 200 gallons, which was to be the maximum load tested. The plane passed its tests easily and took off with 300 gallons in 20 seconds or 1,023 feet, and made a maximum speed of 126 miles per hour. The tests were made in a quartering wind, varying from two to nine miles per hour, and at an elevation of about six hundred feet above sea level.

The final flight ended at dusk, and the plane was left under guard on the field over night. The next morning, after most of the gasoline had been drained, I flew it back to Dutch Flats, where final preparations were made for the flight to St. Louis. I was delayed four days at San Diego by a general storm area over the United States that would greatly jeopardize the success of an over-night non-stop flight to St. Louis. From this flight I expected to obtain some very important data for use on the final hop from New York.

On the afternoon of May 9, Dean Blake, chief of the San Diego Weather Bureau, predicted favorable flying conditions for the succeeding day. The next morning I took the plane to Rockwell Field, and at 3:55 p. m. (Pacific Time) I took off from North Island with 250 gallons of gasoline for the flight to St. Louis, escorted by two Army observation planes and one of the Ryan monoplanes. We circled North Island and San Diego, then headed on a compass course for St. Louis.

The ship passed over the first ridge of mountains, about four thousand feet, very easily with reduced throttle. The escorting planes turned back at the mountains, and I passed on over the desert and the Salton Sea alone. And at sunset I was over the deserts and mountains of western Arizona.

The moon was well above the horizon, and, with the exception of a short period before dawn, I was able to distinguish the contour of the country the entire night. I flew a compass course, passing alternately over snow-capped ridges, deserts and fertile valleys. One of the mountain ranges was over 12,000 feet high and completely snow-covered. I cleared this range by about 500 feet and went on over the plains beyond.

The mountains passed quickly and long before daybreak I was flying over the prairies of Western Kansas. At dawn I located my position about 20 miles south of the course, just east of Wichita, Kansas. At 8 a. m., Central Standard time, I passed over Lambert Field and landed at 8:30 a. m., May 11, 14 hours and 25 minutes after leaving the Pacific Coast.

The weather during the entire distance had been exactly as Dean Blake had predicted.

At 8:13 the next morning (May 12th) I took off from Lambert Field for New York. The wind was west and the weather clear for the greater part of the distance. Over the Alleghenys, however, the sky was overcast and some of the mountain tops were in low hanging clouds and I followed the passes.

At 5:35 p. m., New York Daylight Saving time, I landed at Curtiss Field, Long Island.

WHEELER TURNS GUNS ON COAL MINE STRIKE

Describes Conditions in Pennsylvania as "Unconceivable."

DEMANDS INQUIRY

"Breeding Grounds of Anarchy, Bolshevism," he Says.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6.—Branding conditions existing in the bituminous coal fields of western Pennsylvania as "a crying indictment of authorities here and in Washington," Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D.) of Montana, who visited several mining camps over the weekend, will ask the senate interstate commerce committee today to take up at once the Johnson resolution providing for an investigation of the strike, he said before leaving for the capital.

Senator Wheeler described conditions he found in the mining camps as "unconceivable." The senate can do nothing to settle the strike, he pointed out, but he expects that body to force the hand of public officials by throwing the glaring light of publicity upon the situation.

"The hillsides of Pennsylvania," declared Wheeler, "are the most fertile breeding grounds of anarchy and bolshevism I have ever seen, comparable to conditions in certain cities in China." Wheeler visited China last year.

Deputies Man Machine Guns. Meantime, the sheriff of Allegheny county ordered three deputies to Curry, Pa., to man machine guns for the protection of school children there. The Curry school, bullet-scarred from recent mine warfare, will be reopened for the first time since the lives of its 300 pupils were endangered by snipers' bullets.

The Montana senator, himself a member of the interstate commerce committee, went to Bruceton, near here, where the homes of union miners were fired upon, presumably by non-union workers.

He questioned coal and iron (company) police about the shooting, asking why they did not intervene, and was told that the small detail of company police present at the time would have been helpless before the much larger number of rioters.

In contrast to the statement of company police was the story of a Mrs. Fishman, who operates a small store in Bruceton. She told him that "a number of coal and iron police not only stood by and watched the Negro strike breakers shooting, but she and her daughters had seen the police join in the shooting."

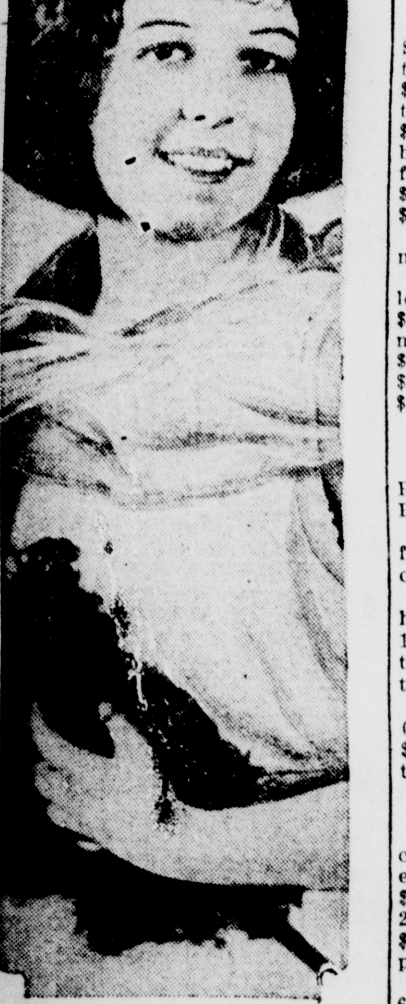

Surprised at Misery. Senator Wheeler expressed surprise that the people of Pittsburgh are not more aroused by the conditions of misery on the fringe of this large center of wealth.

At one point of his tour, a company policeman told Wheeler a store window had been broken when a brick was hurled. He flared up and retorted: "Don't you think I know the difference between a brick and buckshot and rifle shot?"

"As a member of the interstate commerce committee, to which the Johnson resolution was referred, I wanted to get some first hand information," said Wheeler, upon his departure. "I felt there had been a good deal of exaggeration of conditions, but my visit here has more than confirmed the reports."

SAN FRANCISCO GIRL KIDNAPED

Motorist Flees With Victim as Bullets Hail.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Every approach to San Francisco was under close guard today, while police read a vast web over the city and its environs in an effort to capture the driver of a large automobile who late last night abducted Marie O'Brien, 21, and fled before a hail of bullets in a frantic chase through the city's streets.

Miss O'Brien in the company of two friends, Jean Collins and Grace Collins, stood in front of an oil station, waiting for a taxi, when a big touring car stopped and a man emerged. He asked the girls to ride with him in his machine. Upon their refusal, he forced Miss O'Brien to enter the car and drove away while the girl screamed and tried to get out.

William Kirschbaum, special policeman, witnessed the abduction and immediately commanded a taxi for the pursuit. He opened fire but did not succeed in halting the driver of the big car, who eluded the officer after a chase of several miles through the streets.

Police-fire Pension

ance of duty, he shall when honorably discharged be pensioned as the board of trustees may determine under class A, B, C or D. Such pensioners are, however, subject to examination and reclassification at any time. The system further provides a pension for the widow and children of policeman or fireman who are killed or die as a result of injuries received while in the performance of duty.

A pension is also provided for the dependents of policemen dying from natural causes after such policeman or fireman has served 20 years.

Board of Trustees. The law provides that the fund shall be handled by a board of five trustees, the firemen's fund by five members of the fire department elected by the members thereof, and the police fund by five members of the police department elected by the members thereof.

The safety director is by virtue of his office a member of such board of trustees.

The treasurer of the city is by law the custodian of the funds.

According to Solicitor Frank H. Hoover, council has the authority to fix the special levy without submitting the proposition to a vote of the electors.

The amount of the pensions would be fixed by the trustees and would be based entirely upon the salary drawn by the pensioner at the time of his retirement from service. The trustees would be empowered to withhold a certain percentage of the salary of the firemen and policemen from their monthly pay checks to assist in maintaining the fund.

Should council approve an ordinance establishing the pension fund, it would not become operative until January 1, 1929.

THREE MOTORISTS DIE IN CRASH

HAMMOND, Ind., Feb. 6.—Three men were ground to pieces here today when a fast, Chicago-bound Wabash railroad train struck an automobile at a grade crossing.

The victims were Nathan Krause, 45, of Indian Harbor; his son, Harold Krause, and Arthur Given, Purdue university student.

HARVEY CULP IS AFTERNOON CLUB SPEAKER

Columbia Student Discusses "Giants in Earth."

84 MEN ATTEND

William Parker Presides at Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

Eighty-four young men, between the ages of 16 and 26, attended the initial meeting of the Sunday Afternoon club, in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, when Harvey Culp, student at Columbia university, New York, formerly of this city, spoke on "Giants in the Earth."

William Parker, head of the club, presided.

Culp said: "The present is more full of opportunities than any other time in the history of man. The world is waiting for you and it offers great rewards for the man who is willing to set forth upon his course of life, determined to live abundantly, purposefully, and sure that happiness lies in everyday things.

"The wages will be enormous, for the laborer is worthy of his hire." To be sure the material results may or may not be great, but do not discount the spiritual and the mental growth and fullness which is indispensable in later life. To this it goes without saying that we shall then be fulfilling the duties we have mentioned and we shall be adding to the heritage of the future.

"But most of all we shall be growing giants in the earth. It has been said of old 'there were giants in the earth in those days,' as if men were smaller now. True men today do not use but a fraction of their power which they might. We spend vast sums of eternity in sleeping, slow motion and in merely maintaining life processes.

"Men are not working under enough steam, hence so few giants of the earth. However the methods of reacting to life, of being adjusted to life and its situations, of settling our problems, will largely solve this matter and so I say we may produce from ourselves and surely from our children giants in the earth.

"It is therefore for us and your welfare as individuals to take stock of yourselves, to get into the right niche of life and to live under full steam and that you be socially minded, but it is also a duty to do so. Let us abandon the old dugout of half-hearted belief and weak response and get to the 'better ole' of the abundant and mind life and start growing toward giants of the earth."

FIGHT TO UNSEAT JAMES M. BECK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The Democratic contest to unseat Representative James M. Beck (R.) of Pennsylvania, on the ground that he was not a bona fide resident of Philadelphia when he was elected to congress last fall, neared a climax before the house elections committee as oral arguments were presented today.

Representative Kent (D.), of Pennsylvania, prosecuting the case, opened the argument with a charge that Beck had violated both the spirit of the federal constitution and the election laws of Pennsylvania. Beck appeared as his own chief counsel.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Warning the house elections committee that if he is unseated the right of more than half the members of congress will be placed in jeopardy, Representative James M. Beck (R.) of Pennsylvania, pleaded with the committee today for a favorable report in his contest.

Beck, elected from the Philadelphia district, of Senator-elect William S. Vare, asserted that he had fully complied with all provisions of the constitution and state law before becoming a candidate.

A CALIFORNIA gentleman found his mother trying to walk on the Miami river because a "swami" from India, named Yogananda, had told her she could do it. The lady probably paid $35 for the compliment to her mental powers.

THE Paris police want to drive out the "gigolos," young men with oily hair and nice European manners, that prey on foolish American women on a more extensive scale. They dance with the middle-aged American women, pay them rare compliments, don't exactly say that they can walk on the Miami river, but tell them things as interesting, and get large sums of money from them.

MUSSOLINI cuts down the wine shops in Italy from 20,000 to 11,000 for the entire nation. He wants workers, and wine shops lead to dreaming.

PLAN PASSION WEEK SERVICES

Union Observance is Proposed by City Pastors.

The Ministerial association, at a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. today, discussed plans for a union observance of Passion week, which will probably be held in the First Presbyterian church, Fourth street, beginning April 2.

Services will be held at noon and in the evening every day except Saturday, in charge of Dr. John Robertson, of Wooster, retired Presbyterian minister and internationally-known speaker.

Rev. Warren O. Hawkins, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, made a report of the meeting of the Ohio Council of Churches, which was recently held at Columbus.

DONAHEY WARNS MINE RIOTERS

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 6.—Announcement that he is ready to call Ohio National guardsmen out for active service, if necessary, to insure obedience to law was voiced here today by Governor Vic Donahey.

The governor's declaration was prompted by the receipt of information that striking miners and sympathizers attacked non-union miners and their families at the Florence mine of the Y. and O. Coal company, near St. Clairsville, last night.

Adjutant General Frank Henderson today submitted to the governor a report from Lieut. Col. Don L. Caldwell, now at St. Clairsville, relative to last night's disturbance which was characterized as "serious." Caldwell stated that conditions were quiet today. During the disturbance, women and children were removed from the non-union miners' homes to places of safety on the mining company's properties, the governor was informed.

Rev. James A. MacDonald Will Preach in Second United Presbyterian Church Tonight.

Last service in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church in the union evangelistic campaign of three East End churches, conducted last night, attracted a record-breaking crowd. The Young People's societies of the co-operating churches—Second Presbyterian, Second United Presbyterian and Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal—attended in a body.

Services for the last two weeks of the campaign will be held in the Second United Presbyterian church, beginning tonight. Out-of-town ministers will "une the pulpit."

Owing to the illness of Dr. C. K. McGeorge, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Steubenville, who was to have appeared during the early part of the week, services tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday evening will be in charge of Rev. James A. MacDonald, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Youngstown.

Rev. Harry C. Hildebrand, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Canton will preach Thursday and Friday evenings.

S. H. Robinson, Pittsburgh, addressed men of three churches at a personal work meeting in the Second United Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. Another meeting for men will be held at 6:45 o'clock this evening.

Jerry Howell Follows Negro to Prison Cell.

Sheriff George Wright has returned from Columbus, where on Friday he delivered Hayward Thompson, Negro, of East Liverpool, sentenced to serve a sentence of from two to 20 years on a charge of assault with intent to rob, at the penitentiary.

Ten minutes before Thompson arrived at a prison, Jerry Howell, also of East Liverpool, sent up from Jefferson county to serve from 23 to 25 years for robbery, was delivered to Warden Thomas.

Thompson and Howell were jointly indicted in Columbiana county for the alleged hold-up of Thomas Palmer, a motion picture operator. Howell was also indicted for shooting at Police Captain Mason Conley with intent to kill.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGN!

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

To Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to make. Saves about $2.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is, pine has a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified honey. Instead of more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure and tastes good. You can feel this take hold of a cough, loose and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, bronchitis and hoarseness. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable quinine, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs. Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PINEX for Coughs

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed. External treatments seldom banish Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it. J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Mathew's Original Cut Rate, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

Wellsville Loop Quint Trims Elks

Visiting Lodgemen Victors in 35-28 Clash.

EAST LIVERPOOL Elks missed a lot of shots Saturday night that they couldn't afford to miss because they were playing a stronger Wellsville team than they trimmed twice in the first half of the county league. And, as a result, the lodgemen from the neighboring city got away with a 35 to 28 decision.

The Potters were just about up to their customary game in the first two periods but were outdistanced by the visitors in the second half.

They had only a 20-17 edge at the close of the first half, but this was definitely wiped away when the Wellsville squad rang up 18 points in the third period while the locals were making three. The first half champs scored five themselves and blanked the opposition in the concluding stanza but five was enough.

That the acquisition of Calhoun has served to place the Wellsville county league combine with practically any other squad in the circuit was evident from the youth's performance and the work of the team in general.

Calhoun bagged six field goals and four fouls for 16 points.

Telford, forward, contributed nine points to the Wellsville cause.

Pusey, Wilson and Canine rang up three buckets apiece for the locals.

Guard Bloor's 22 Points Set New Scoring Record

Potters' Deluge of Field Goals Continues in Lisbon Battle; Local Coach Uses Entire Squad Against Rivals.

Joe Hurst's high school basketball squad continued its deluge of field goals Saturday night at Lisbon, licking the county seaters by a score of 48 to 17 and giving Guard Ed Bloor an opportunity of setting a high scoring mark for the season of 22 points.

The Saturday night tussle found the Hurstmen in a mood similar to that of the preceding night when they ramaged through Belleaire. The scoring streak they started against the Belmont comittees they continued against the county seaters.

Lisbon held the lead once during the game. Captain McVeach dropped in the first bucket of the game. After Kirkham executed a perfect shot under the basket, however, the home squad trailed and the Ceramics' score mounted higher and higher.

Bloor broke through the Lisbon defense for three double deuces. English corraled a goal from the floor at this point which, together with two fouls by Bloor and one by Kirkham, sent the count at the end of the first period to 13-2.

Witherow, Felt and Crawford were sent into the game at the beginning of the second period. This, however, did not check the dazzling exhibition of speed on the part of the Potters—it only served as emphasis.

The second quarter race was featured by a scoring duel between Bloor and Dave Felt. If Bloor was not switching the leather through the netting, Felt was, and they each hit the hoop for seven points. English was successful in southpawing a two-point shot toward the close of the period and, as the whistle sounded, took his team off the floor with a 29-7 lead. Dickinson, Lisbon's stocky blonde guard had succeeded in executing two pretty shots for the Lisbon points in this period.

Bloor started the third stanza with a rush and, after making five additional points, was removed for McConville. Witherow and Felt chalked up a bucket apiece. On fouls by Dyke, Bloor scored three points via the foul line route. Kelly of the county seaters flashed a few bursts of speed and scored once from scrimmage.

A wet spot on the floor, caused by a leak in the roof, hampered players of both teams considerably and caused quite a few bad spills.

Wildblood, Kirkham and Penebaker came back into the fray in the final stages of the game. Penebaker playing his usual steady defensive game.

Wildblood sent the sphere through the net on a beautifully executed shot from the corner and tossed in another before the finish of the battle. Kirkham and English collected one apiece and Bloor, back again, ran his total for the evening up to 22, the highest individual score marked up in any game of the season. He turned in a wonderful performance of passing, dribbling and shooting.

Another bucket by Kelley and three more free throws completed the scoring for the vanquished. Kelley and Bloor were the individual stars for the county seaters.

The East Liverpool girls' team was defeated by the Lisbon lassies in the preliminary.

Big 10 Cage Crews Face Final Lap

Hard Road Ahead of Purdue Pace-setter.

By Gene Hoffman.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—The Big Ten basketball season this week reaches the turn in the road—the critical halfway mark which signifies the opening of a battle royal through the home stretch. With the worry of mid-term examinations off their minds, the chief business of court sharpshooters will be the winning of basketball games.

Although Purdue's Bullmackers are still riding comfortably in the pace-making saddle, they have played only about a third of their games and must yet perform herculean tasks if they expect to ride out the balance of their schedule at the head of the pack.

Their next big test comes Saturday night when they play the fast going Michigan five on the latter's home floor. The Wolverines suffered two early reverses, but since that they have developed the form that won them a conference championship last season. Right now, especially on their own floor, they are the toughest kind of foe.

Michigan demonstrated its power last Saturday night by swamping Chicago, 28 to 19. The same evening Ohio State carried Minnesota into an overtime period to win, 42 to 40. These were the only championship games played Saturday. Indiana kept its hand in by beating Kentucky State, a non-conference foe, 48 to 29.

There are two conference tilts scheduled for tonight: Ohio State plays Chicago here, and Minnesota tries for a come-back against Iowa at Iowa City. In addition, two Big Ten teams tackle non-conference foes, Purdue plays at home against Franklin, and Coe journeys to Ann Arbor for a game with Michigan.

Tomorrow night Wisconsin deserts the circuit to try its luck against Notre Dame, the game will be played on the Badger floor at Madison. Wednesday night Northwestern and Illinois lock horns.

Besides the Big Purdue-Michigan game Saturday night, two other conference tilts will be on tap, Minnesota at Wisconsin, and Iowa at Indiana.

Louise Miller, Dorothy Metts, Earl Eschbacher, Maurice Shea and Verle Mellott are cast in specialty roles.

C. J. Berg and Family,
J. L. Watters are Unhurt.

Two Wellsville automobiles figured in collisions Sunday night, one a short distance north of Power Point and the other at the intersection of Sixth and Jefferson street, East Liverpool. No one was injured.

Car driven by C. G. Berg, Tenth and Center street newspaper publisher, and occupied by his family, collided with a Canton-East Liverpool motor bus near Power Point at 8 p. m.

Berg's car was headed toward Lisbon and the bus toward East Liverpool. The two machines, it is said, sidewiped in passing. Both sustained damage to running board and fenders.

Car driven by Joseph L. Watters, Wellsville, collided with an ambulance belonging to the C. N. Miller undertaking establishment, East Liverpool, under the traffic signal light at the Jefferson-Sixth street intersection. Both cars were only slightly damaged.

Fire alarms just installed in Edinburg's streets work on the loud-speaker principle, and when the glass is broken, all that is necessary is to call into the instrument.

BROADWAY

A Thrilling Story of the Night Clubs
By Phillip Dunning and George Abbott.

Steve shook his head. He was looking up the street, his eyes on something that looked promising. "Come on," he said—"Walk faster."

The body of Edwards tilted dangerously forward as their pace quickened. The shoes dragged the sidewalk with a strange, scraping sound. The light hat threatened to fall from the jerking head. Steve jammed it down on the head, over the ears. The rain pelted.

In the middle of the block stood a Westcott truck, parked close to the sloppy gutter. The driver's seat was empty. Directly across the street was a small lunch room—a counter with high stools. The driver of the truck was perched up on one of those stools eating a hot hamburger sandwich and a piece of pie. Steve looked up and down the street. "Quick! Up with him!" he whispered.

The next moment the body of Scar Edwards was lying on its face in the back of the truck, twisted like a dummy.

"Cover him with one of them blankets," said Dolph, pointing to a heap of dirty brown blankets used to cover luggage—"Quick, here comes somebody!"

"Calm yourself," said Steve, pulling at the blanket. "It's all right. Scar's going to get out of this neighborhood, back into his own, I hope."

Steve and Dolph walked back toward the Paradise, both stopping to light cigarettes. Dolph's hands were trembling as he struck a match. As they turned into the alley again, the same black cat slunk away from the garbage cans.

"Blast that cat," said the superstitious Dolph. Back in the truck, something white stuck out from the brown blanket. It was the rapidly stiffening hand of Scar that, in his haste, Steve had neglected to cover. And as Steve pushed open the oaken door of the Paradise, the Westcott driver paid his bill and strolled out of the lunch room, picking his teeth.

Just before Steve and Dolph returned from their nerve-racking stroll, Roy and Billie had rehearsed a portion of their act, Roy again patient and kind, although toward the end, when Billie was limbering up, putting her foot on the piano and bending down to it, he had objected to her seeming lack of interest lately.

"What's the matter, Billie," he had demanded, "you're still strong for the act, ain't you?"

She had replied that she was, but when he had asked her to go out with him after the performance and talk over the act, she had hesitated. Then he remembered. It was Friday night and that was the night she usually went home to see her old lady in Trenton. Pinning her down, however, he had discovered that she was really counting on staying to Crandall's party. That had infuriated Roy Lane. "Couldn't they get souse without her?" he wanted to know—"And suppose anything ever happened like her old lady kicking the bucket?" Poor little Mrs. Lane was so frail in her musty black—her blue-veined hands almost transparent and so knotted.

And then, desperate, Roy had come to the point. "Are you falling for this Crandall guy?" he had demanded. "You want a couple of days and I'll give you the lowdown on him. I'm gonna do a little detective work—Florida real estate—hah!"

But whether he had made any impression was very doubtful. She had ended the conversation by flirting with him, and that always put him at a disadvantage. When he had very seriously stated that he was thinking of her career, that's all, she had looked at him with those devastating eyes, and had said, "Is that all? I thought you might perhaps be thinking of me!"

Gee, girls could say things like that and take you right off your feet and you didn't know whether they were kidding or not.

"I take a personal interest in you too," he had remarked, his heart beating faster—"After all, we're going to be partners, ain't we?"

And then, right on top of a remark that had swung him straight up to a glorious seventh heaven, she had nipped him down to earth by replying, "Sure, on the stage we are." And she ran upstairs.

He had followed her, nonplussed by her moods, and she had shut her dressing room door in his face, laughing. He had waited a moment in the narrow hall, hoping she might come out again, and then, disappointed, he turned and almost ran into Pearl who slipped from her room to get a drink of water. Roy noticed that her hand trembled as she lifted the glass to her heavily-rouged lips.

Still nervous?" he asked.

"Yeah."

"Feelin' sick?"

No," And Pearl returned to her dressing room, and abruptly closed the door. What was the matter with her, anyhow? Oh, women! Women!

And now, Steve and Dolph re-entered the warm, perfumed room downstairs with the canopy of silk, and the cheerful orange glow through the shimmering folds. In the light, Dolph's face was pasty, his hat was pushed to the back of his head, and his fingers twitched spasmodically. Steve was an unusually calm as ever, immaculate in dress, except for a little mud on his shoes and some drops of rain on his hat and shoulders. He brushed these evidences away with a whiskbroom that he picked up from the prop table, and as he did so, spoke to Dolph, nodding his head toward the cabaret. "You better go in there for a while."

Dolph started nervously. "What'll I do?" he asked hopelessly.

"Why get yourself something to eat kid," said Steve, not unkindly, putting his hat on the piano.

Dolph walked toward the swinging doors; paused. "Your sure everything's all right?" he asked in a half-whisper.

Steve smiled, faintly scornful. "Ain't got any appetite huh?" And added, jovially, "I didn't think a little thing like that would bother you?"

"Say nothing bothers me if I knew what's coming," said Dolph, "but I never seen nothing like this before."

"That's why it's so good," smiled Steve, inhaling his cigarette, deeply. "I've often thought it would be a nice thing if Scar was out of the way. And look at how it broke for us. Ever see anything prettier in your life? Now if Scar's mob has got any sense, I'll look up the two gangs and run this town right—all the protection in the world, plenty of profits for everybody."

Dubiously, Dolph started out again, almost running into the good-natured Porky coming down the hall. "Well, I got the Chicago boys out there," he announced smiling broadly. "All yelling for ringside seats, so they can see the dimples."

"Well, I guess I'll have a drink," Dolph mumbled, and disappeared in the direction of the bar. Porky watched him off, puzzled by the little man's manner and speech; then he turned to Steve who was over-deliberately lighting a fresh cigarette from the butt of his old one. Porky studied him a moment. He knew Steve Crandall's moods, perhaps better than any one else.

"What's the matter Steve?" he asked.

Steve looked at him blandly. "Not a thing in the world, Porky."

"You—act kind of—"

"Kind of what?"

"I—I don't know."

"Neither do I," said Steve. "I'll go ask Nick if he knows."

Lil Rice appeared on the stairs, dressed for her first number in a glittering costume of steel beads and sparkles, and a startling head-dress of plumes and sparklers, she carried a mirror and a great fan of bedraggled green feathers, and came down the stairs like Sheba visiting Solomon.

Porky glanced up at her, dazzled. "I—I guess I'll stay out here," he said to Steve who was just entering Nick's private office.

"Go to it," said Steve. "Lil, have you met my friend Mr. Thompson?" And after the jaunty introduction, Crandall went into the little room and closed the door.

Lil nodded and swept in all her glory to the prop table. Porky stood looking at her buxom figure in its shimmering attire and found it to his taste.

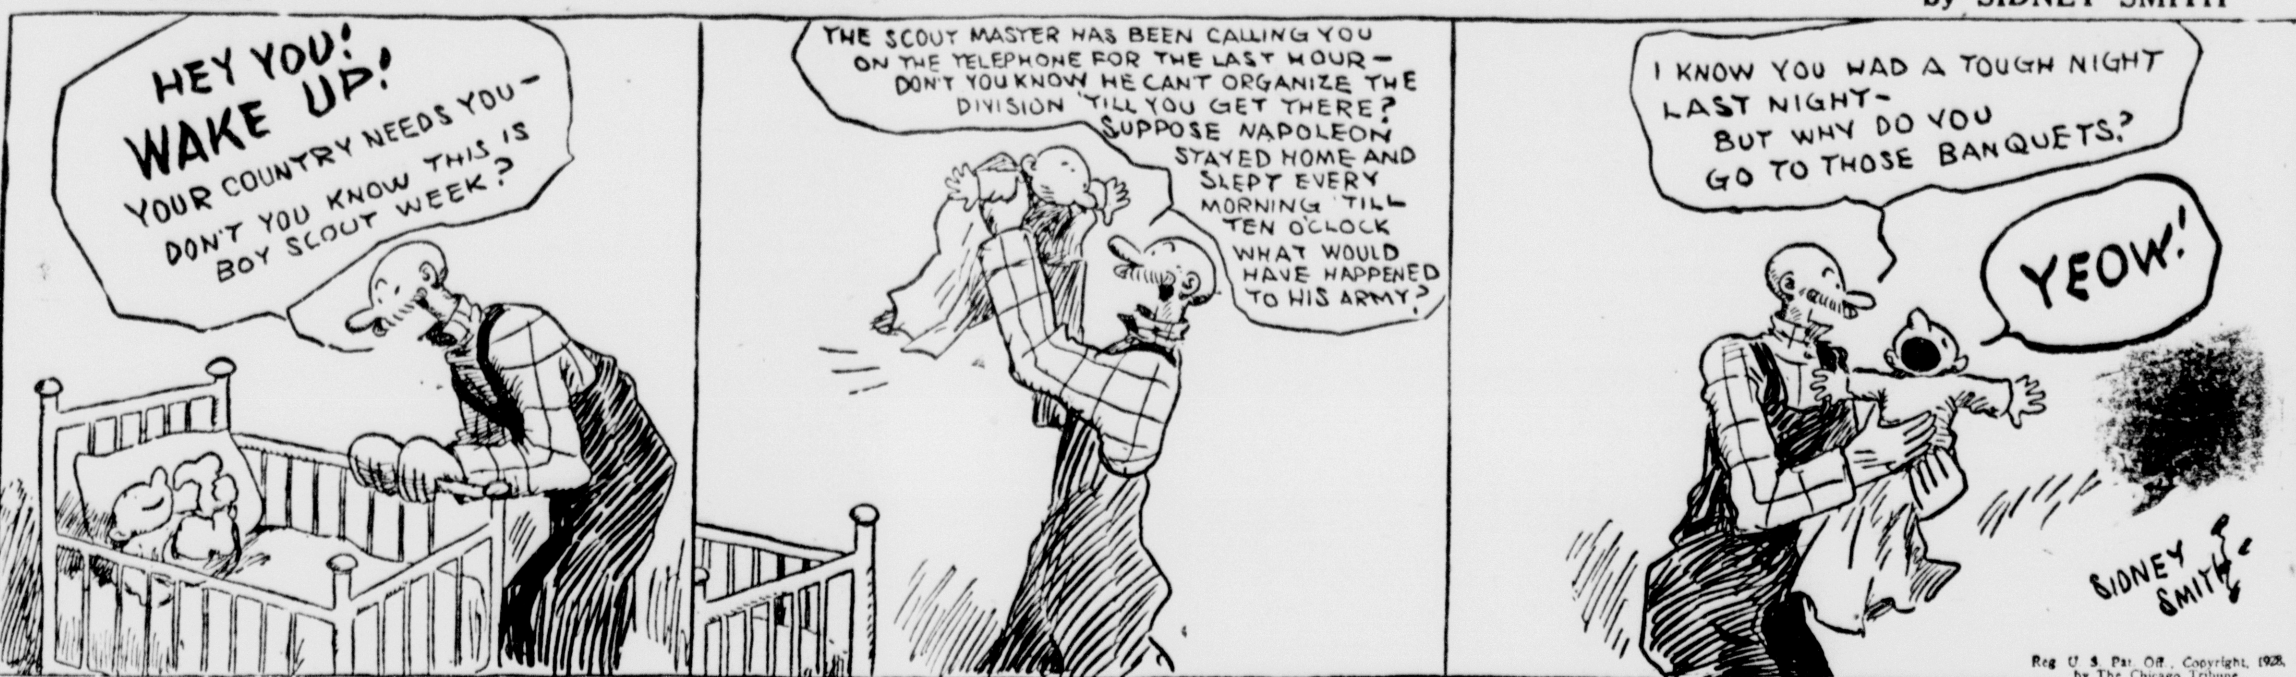

"I've seen you before, Miss Rice," he began.

"That so?" she returned in a preoccupied tone as she searched for her props.

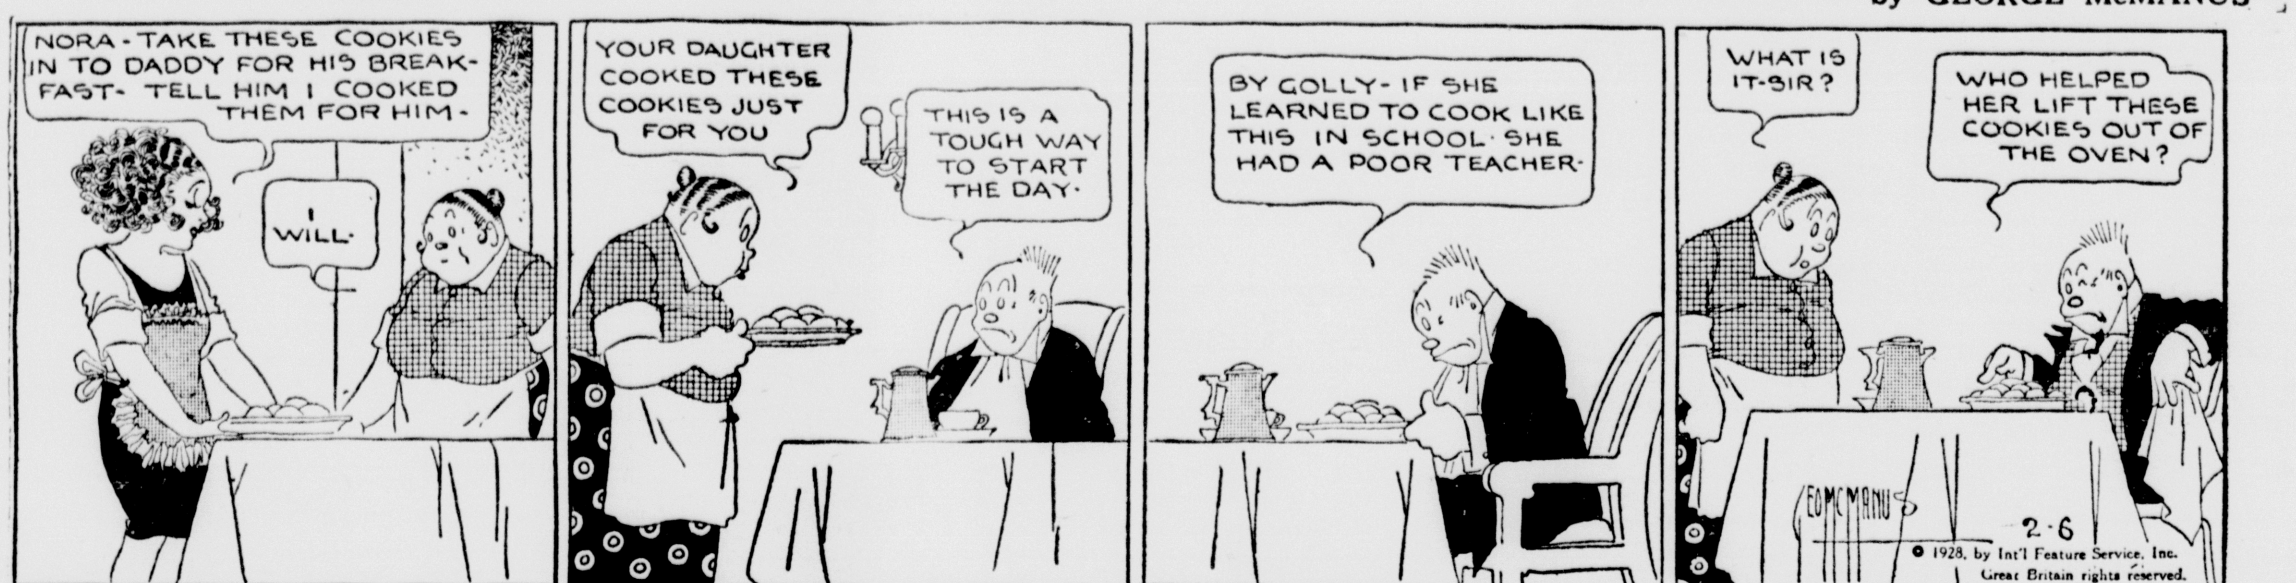

"Yeh, from out in the audience—out in front, I guess they call it. You might have noticed me last night after your song—I was applauding and—"

EDMUND LOWE IN CERAMIC HIT

"Publicity Madness," which will be shown at the Ceramic theatre for a limited run beginning today is, according to all advance reports, something new, different and entirely intriguing in the way of featured comedies.

Adapted by Andrew Benison, from the original story by Anita Loos, it is one succession of comic situations which go to make up the romance and business whirl of an enterprising soap salesman, Edmund Lowe in this character gives one of the best characterizations of his career of wise-cracking individuals which started definitely with his role of Sergeant Quirt in "What Price Glory."

Lois Moran is costarred with Lowe as the shy little daughter of the old fashioned manufacturer who believes that the business of his forefather should be run according to the standards set down by him. In this role Miss Moran emerges from a drab little old fashioned Miss into a most flapper-like figure—just to prove to the smart salesman that it can be done. Besides Lowe and Miss Moran the cast excludes an exceptionally talented crowd of actors. Among them are E. J. Ratcliffe, Arthur Houseman, James Gordon, Bryon Munson and Norman Peck.

In which the hard boiled mercant of "What Price Glory" does his stuff as a salesman. At the Ceramic theatre today and Wednesday.

Amusements

"PATENT LEATHER KID" OPENS HERE

Flanders' field of poppies, the teaming East Side of New York, the trenches and barbed-wire entanglements of No Man's Land, New York cabarets, boxing arenas and night life, and field hospitals behind the front are all in First National's big spectacle, "The Patent Leather Kid," now playing at the American theatre, following its long Broadway run.

Every resource of the production department at First National was called into service for this great film epic, starring Richard Barthelmess. Advisers from the U. S. army, former war correspondents, physicians and surgeons and others were drafted for the purpose of advising Director Alfred Santell during the production.

Every minute detail was checked, so that the picture might be absolutely true to life.

Veterans of the world war played bits in the picture, each member of the cast was carefully chosen, and actual happenings on the front of the big drive of September, 1918, were reproduced during the filming of the war scenes.

The result is one of the greatest war pictures ever made. In addition, the story of "The Patent Leather Kid," the East Side boxer who was drafted against his wishes, and who emerged from the war a hero, is one of the greatest stories ever written with a war background.

Molly O'Day, who plays opposite Barthelmess, is acclaimed a screen find as the result of her work in this picture.

DEMPSEY-TUNNEY FIGHT ON SCREEN

Pictures of the Dempsey-Tunney fight in the Soldiers' stadium, Chicago, will feature the motion picture bill to be offered at the Strand theatre today and tomorrow. A comedy-drama, "A Call in the Night," also will be shown.

The comedy is a story of an eastern tenderfoot, who goes west to become a cowboy and encounters many unlooked for obstacles upon his arrival in the cattle country. He was disappointed in having a rickety Ford meet him at the station instead of the old-fashioned stage-coach of the early West. He looked in vain for gaudily-painted Indians. He discovered western horses were far from gentle to their riders.

In fact he had to start in and learn what the West was all about. Like many others, he could not understand that the West had progressed along with the rest of the country.

But the experiences of the easterner were made to be laughed at, and that is just what happens. He provides plenty of humorous moments during the unfolding of the picture, and his clean-cut comedy interspersed in the thrilling and exciting episodes makes for the utmost in screen entertainment.

William Irving is a featured comedian and has been under contract for some months to the Christie company, and while with that organization appeared in more than twenty pictures. In addition to Irving, the splendid
